The Carmel Pine Cone

VOLUME XX, NO. 50 Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, December 28, 1934 PRICE 5 CENTS

—Won't Be Long—

JANUARY 24 SET AS DATE FOR ELECTION

CARMEL voters will have to wait until Jan. 24 to cast ballots on the proposed new $31,000 city hall for Devendorf Plaza if two-thirds of the ballots are cast in favor of the plan. Such was the decision of the city council in a special meeting to consider corrections in an earlier ordinance that had developed confusion between consolidate precincts and their polling places.

In the new ordinance, which had its first reading then, and will have its second on January 2 at the regular meeting of the month, precincts A will consolidate Nos. 1 and 3, while Precinct B will consolidate 2 and 4, with polling places at the Carmel garage and the city fire house, respectively.

Councilman Bernard Rowntree voted against the new ordinance, as he had against the earlier one.

Total present bonded indebtedness of the city is $14,000, and this added to the proposed city hall cost would approximate 15 per cent of the over $3,330,000 assessed valuation of real and personal property within the city limits. New bonds would bear 4 per cent interest with principal to be paid in 20 years, and if they cannot be sold above par as is privileged by the government under PWA set-up, the government will bid par plus accrued interest for the entire amount.

Printing of the ballots and necessary instructions and documents for polls officials will be let at the discretion of City Clerk Saldee Van Brower.

Carmel Men Injured When Autos Collide

Collision of two cars in Pacific Grove recently sent Roy Goodrich and Fred Ammerman, of Carmel, riding in one car, and three occupants of the other car to hospitals for treatment. One of the injured, J. H. McCoy, of Pacific Grove, was rendered unconscious for several hours, and both machines were wrecked.

The accident occurred when McCoy is said to have been going along Junipero street and met Goodrich approaching from the opposite direction. They crashed, due to confusion of drivers' signals during an attempted turn.

Ammerman and Goodrich were treated at the Bayview hospital in Pacific Grove by Dr. J. P. Sandholdt and released following emergency treatment.

CHIEF OF POLICE ENGLUND UNDERGOES HOSPITAL CARE

Injury to his left foot sustained while searching waterfront rocks for trace of Mrs. Joseph Schaffner sent Chief of Police August Englund to the hospital on Wednesday for treatment by Dr. John Gray.

Englund was reluctant to leave his office with pressure of tax collection and his police duties especially heavy at this time, but when members of the council dropped in and convinced him of the seriousness of the case he readily consented to go.

More Than Inch of Rain Falls Over Night In Carmel

Another soaking rain visiting Carmel in the early morning hours yesterday, had brought 1.05 inches of precipitation by 8 o'clock. The season's total now reaches 6.58 inches, running far ahead of last year's total at this time, of 2.92 inches.

—1934 Oscar Wilde—

"Springtime for Henry" Uncovers New Actors Here

By THELMA B. MILLER

SO far as casting goes, the Community Players have rung the bell again, in "Springtime for Henry," opening last night at the Playhouse on Monte Verde, and closing tomorrow night. So much cannot be said for the selection of the vehicle. Ben W. Levy's farce is light to the point of triviality, and some genuinely funny lines are so wrapped in circumlocution that the point emerges with difficulty, if at all. The inviolated style of Oscar Wilde was directed toward a more leisurely age; it is not so good in 1934.

The play is handsomely mounted in a brown-and-white modernistic setting, and effectively costumed. Particularly luscious is the effect of the gowns worn by Mrs. Perez-Brown and Miss Lawrence in the second act; hunter's green and smoky pink against the brown day-enport; very good indeed.

Probably by tonight a derby hat of the proper size will have been found for Mr. Smith, and the low-comedy effect of the ears pressed downward and outward will be relieved.

Discovery of two good new men is the achievement of this production. Digby Smith has the appearance and the diction to carry romantic leads

Boy Injured, Others Shaken Up in Crash

Robert Whitbeck, 5, received a scalp injury and several adults were severely shaken in a freak accident early this week when the cars of Mrs. Caroline R. Whitbeck, of Connelton, now residing in Pebble Beach, and Charles Moody, employed in a Monterey restaurant, touched bumpers on the main highway near the Peninsula hospital and got out of control. The Whitbeck car crashed into a tree at the side of the road, while the Moody car ran into a bush, and both machines were considerably damaged.

State traffic officer Leo Ramsey, of Carmel, now on local patrol, reported that the little boy had not been seriously hurt, and that no charges had been filed against either driver.

PROBING the depths of Carmel bay off Cook's Cove with an abalone hook, Wednesday afternoon, two men in a small skiff brought up a tattered coat lining with bits of fur still clinging to it. A day earlier the same searchers, Capt. Leonard Johnson and Stewart Thackenthal, employees of Del Monte Properties company, discovered part of a fur collar. These fragments of clothing, with the blue mule found on the beach a week ago, are all that the ocean has returned of Elliot Boke Schaffner, whose body is still being sought in the conviction that she walked into the waves at the foot of Thirteenth street early on the morning of Dec. 18.

Search for the missing woman concentrated on the water front after finding of the house-slipper Dec. 20. Oscar Lager, Monterey diver, began Saturday to make daily explorations of the ocean floor. Sunday he exploded several small charges of dynamite, one of which brought to the surface a small octopus, giving rise to a sensational story of the diver's fight for life with a giant devil-fish.

Schaffner Still Here

Arriving here Friday morning after a gruelling air-and-train trip from Chicago, Joseph H. Schaffner, Chicago clothing magnate, is still in Carmel, waiting with waning hope for the recovery of his wife's body. His first act after breakfasting and resting from his early-morning arrival was to grant an interview to local and out-of-town news-writers. Immaculately dressed, dignified and restrained in manner, giving slight evidence of the fatiguing journey and mental strain, he answered questions directly and to the point. A few questions which he considered out of order he turned without giving offense.

Telegram Undelivered

He told the newshawks that he would eventually return to Chicago, taking with him his small daughter, Elliot. Schaffner's last communication with his wife, a telegram addressed to her at Monterey hospital Dec. 17, the day she returned home, asked for definite word as to her Christmas plans. He apparently did not know that she had purchased a ticket to Chicago. The wire failed to reach Mrs. Schaffner.

Dr. E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, has been pursuing investigations along every angle for the past week. He has conferred with police officials and with many private individuals. While there appeared little room for doubt that Mrs. Schaffner's body was hidden in the bay, no other possibility was overlooked. Dr. Alfred Adler, the Schaffners' Chicago physician, is also at the Schaffner home.

TO CALL MASS MEETING

Advocates of the projected new city hall will call a mass meeting of Carmel voters soon to state arguments in its favor. Speakers will explain the council's action in arranging federal PWA aid and the possible benefits to be derived by the project.

Postoffice Receipts Increased By $1000

Interesting figures are submitted by Acting Postmaster Irene Cator on recent postal activity in the new office.

The last quarter of this year showed receipts of nearly $9000, as against just under $8000 for the same period last year, and the present figure is a record for Carmel.

Between Dec. 3 and 24, there were 37,647 stamps of 3 cent denomination sold, showing the great ability of Carmel letter writers. During the holiday rush eight extra office employees and one assistant rural carrier were employed.

Anti-Liquor Clause Suit on January 3

Suit of the Carmel Development Company against several Carmel merchants and property owners to regain title to land because of alleged violations of the anti-liquor clause in nearly all Carmel deeds will come before Judge H. G. Jorgensen, in superior court at Salinas, on Thursday, Jan. 3.

The case has been hanging fire since May. While many other cities have such clauses, and many trials have centered around them in the past, the timeliness of the Carmel suit is attracting state-wide attention.

Community Hospital Off to Good Start

Peninsula Community Hospital, which is the enlarged Velle Clinic on the heights above Carmel, since its opening early in October, has more than come up to the expectations of peninsula physicians and donors of the fund making it possible, and results have brought high praise from patients who have enjoyed its facilities.

Both in point of service and of financial balance the project, according to Mrs. Dixie Gosgrove, its superintendent, is in first class shape to meet the coming year and grow in value rendered to surrounding communities.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

ARTHUR CYRIL was in town over the week-end looking into the local little theater movement and greeting old friends. It is several years since he lived here and was engaged in business as well as in acting and directing in the various theaters, but he still finds it difficult to go down the street without bumping into many cronies.

Since leaving Carmel he has lived in the Santa Cruz mountains and been associated with the Los Gatos pageant and with San Jose and Palo Alto little theaters, his latest effort being "Her Temporary Husband," in the Cherry Blossom theater on Dry Creek road, San Jose, which was converted by him from an old barn into a Japanese show house.

Recent ambitious productions by Cyril have included "Little Women," and the premieres of "Palace Windows," by David MacKaye, and "In Days of Gold," written around Lotta Crabtree, with a cast of 175, these being staged in the Roosevelt auditorium in San Jose.

His first appearance in Carmel was as the heavy in "Yolanda of Cyprus," directed by Perry Newberry, well before the war, in the Forest theater. Other outdoor productions of the time either directed or acted in by Cyril included "Charlie's Aunt," "The Pied Piper," "Alice in Wonderland," and a children's play by James Hopper.

Returning from two years of ambulance service in France, he was given management of the Highland Inn by Frank Devendorf; then the show business called him and he was director of the Arts and Crafts theater for three and a half years, averaging one play every two months during that period.

His last public appearance in Carmel was when he came over here to help in the charity benefit carnival of September, 1933, making personal appearances as a movie dancer in the Village theater, which was the erstwhile Denny-Watrous studio.

CHARLES KING VAN RIPER, recently returned from the east with Mrs. Van Riper and son, Tony, to occupy the home on Carmel Point, has long been connected with public events in Carmel.

His latest activity was bringing Santa Claus down from the hills to local kiddies at the Christmas tree this year after carols were sung. Wearing antlers as he sat at the wheel, with Santa Claus Milton Latham shadow boxing with defective whiskers just behind him, Charlie appeared to be going through an Elks initiation but bore up under it in his usual sterling manner.

Eastern newspaper man and interested in New Jersey fabric mills, he was an officer in the army and then came to Carmel to build the family home. The Abalone baseball league is largely his product, and nobody knows the hours he labored over schedules and lineups, nor in preparation of fields and equipment.

Several plays and innumerable short stories are to his credit, as well as production of the renowned Carmel Follies that packed 'em in time after time. As actor and producer and general sponsor of things dramatic, he has been a most valuable influence in Carmel stage work.

Business recently took him east for many months, but now he plans to remain here at least long enough to find out the names of newcomers and see if Carmel customs still retain their distinction.

"Springtime for Henry" Off to Three-Night Run at Playhouse

in future plays; the irascible dignity with which he plays "Henry" is a good foil for the comedy of the other players. Reginald Foster is an excellent comedian and gives full value to the fat lines which are his. Charlotte Lawrence is a charming ingenue, and does not create any more sympathy for the smug little secretary than she deserves. As is permissible in farce, this character is stilted and unreal, and Miss Lawrence does not take her too seriously.

Mrs. Jose Perez-Brown is handsome and statuesque as Julia Jellwell, and plays the viperish role with relish.

Monumental Task

This small cast had rather a monumental task is mastering the voluminous lines in rather too short a time. They succeeded commendably, if not to the point of glibness. Because the play is talky and practically devoid of action, they are occasionally left "stood up" rather awkwardly. Whitmore Waldegrave, the director, has overcome this wherever possible by devising bits of business, but the fact still remains that very little happens except conversation. Even such action as the carrying of a fluffy cat across the stage and Mr. Smith's flouncing about wrapped in a comforter, and with that detestable derby jammed down on his ears, are a distinct relief.

In his handling of the cast and his setting of the stage, Director Waldegrave shows distinct possibilities. It will be interesting to see him in action on a rather more meaty vehicle. How about a good lively melodrama for a change?

MUSICAL ART MEETING

The January meeting of the Musical Arts society which would fall on New Year's evening as the first Tuesday of the month, will be held Tuesday, January 8, with the usual interesting program now in process of preparation.

AT DEL MONTE TREE

Among Carmel children who attended the Christmas tree at Del Monte hotel, where Peter Hay, the famous resident golf professional, once played Santa Claus, were Mortie Henderson, Nancy Lee Watson, Elizabeth Watson, Annie Watson, Patsy Ford, Barbara Josselyn, Horace Dormody, Rickie Masten and Kim Hollins, Jr.

ROBERT STANTON PLANS TO OPEN OFFICES HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton have come up from the south to be with Mrs. Stanton's mother, Mrs. Ethel P. Young, during Christmas and over the year's end, in Pebble Beach.

For the past year Mr. Stanton has been associated with Wallace Neff, architect, in Hollywood and Pasadena, and early next year intends to open his own office on the Monterey peninsula, having received his license last year, following graduate work at the University of California. Among his Carmel work is the recently opened Normandy Inn on Monte Verde and Ocean.

Midnight Mass at Old Mission Draws Big Crowd

EVERY year hundreds of visitors make the pilgrimage to historic Carmel mission. But the old church has not been really seen unless one has attended some service there such as the solemn high mass which was celebrated Christmas Eve. Then the mission comes to life; the feeling of continuity with the past is awakened.

The mission was packed to the doors Monday night, with faithful parishioners and scores of visitors braving the midnight frosty chill to attend one of the most significant services of the year. The mission has never appeared more beautiful, with the altar massed with crimson flowers, a-glitter with candles, and the sepulchral chill modified by the life with which it teemed.

Midnight mass is always a glamorous and colorful occasion; the unusual hour and the electric sense that Christmas Day is then beginning giving a feeling of wonder and excitement. But in a modern church the occasion falls short of the full significance of a service in an old church which has sheltered generations of the faithful. It is not hard to see, through half-closed eyes, huddled dark bodies scantily clad in skins, in place of the heterogeneous twentieth-century congregation.

Familiar Carmelites, distinguished looking strangers, fur-coated ladies whose faint perfume mingled with the scent of incense, a group of pious Filipino boys, poorly-clad workmen; to some it was a solemn and reverently anticipated occasion; to others it was an interesting spectacle, but even these latter shared the joyous spiritual uplift of this beautiful celebration of the world's most significant Birthnight.

The Christmas music rang beautifully through the old mission, and Father O'Connell's address, short, simple and earnest, embodied a thoughtful consideration of problems of the day and a rededication to the rich faith of the past.

PINE NEEDLES

To present Mr. and Mrs. John Goldsmith of Lakefield, Ontario, down from Canada with their two sons, for the holidays, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coote entertained at tea on Sunday. Mrs. Goldsmith is Mr. Coote's sister. Mr. Goldsmith participated in one of England's exciting and traditional sports events as a member of the Cambridge crew in the Cambridge-Oxford race on the Thames, one of the world's oldest intercollegiate contests.

Mrs. Herman Spoehr and Miss Hortense Spoehr, have opened their home here during the holidays. A recent guest was Miss Eleanor Thoits of Palo Alto, where the Spoehrs live when not here in the village.

Warner Skiff, and his young son, Mason, of Cleveland, Ohio, enjoying a winter vacation in California, were at Highlands Inn for Christmas before motoring on down the coast to Southern California.

Two winter visitors to California, Mrs. Viola Redin of Birmingham, Ala., and Miss Edna Sandlin of New York, making Oakland their headquarters, were at Peter Pan Lodge over Christmas.

Guests of Miss Clara Kellogg during the holiday vacation are her nieces, Misses Mary and Ruth Kellogg, of Pomona and Scripps colleges, and her nephew, Jack Kellogg, from Stanford.

Col. and Mrs. C. E. Hathaway entertained a group of friends at Christmas dinner at their home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hargraves left for Southern California this week, planning to return to Carmel in March.

Dr. Ella Bourne and Miss Georgina Melvin, members of the faculty of Mills College, are at Highlands Inn for Christmas vacation.

Attractive Christmas centerpieces, representing winter scenes, were the decorations for the Christmas dinner at the Monterey Peninsula Country club. Members who were present, several entertaining guests, were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Landers, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Jordan, Herbert Heron, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Payne, and Dr. Amelia Gates.

Sir Sidney and Lady Leonard, of Vancouver, B. C., were Christmas guests at Pine Inn, leaving Thursday for Santa Barbara. They will probably stop in Carmel again on the return trip north.

Mr. and Mrs. Tad Stinson have returned from Santa Cruz to Carmel and will occupy the Dr. R. A. Kocher home at Carmel Highlands for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Byington Ford and their children were in Pasadena over Christmas.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul M. Hunter and their family are in Pasadena for the holidays.

Miss Margaret Swedberg is entertaining her father, Harry Titmas of Oakland, during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rapp entertained informally at breakfast Sunday morning.

Mrs. Harold Moore and her son, Tom, are in Phoenix, Arizona, for a holiday visit.

Mrs. Fred Greenwell has as holiday house guests her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Center of San Jose.

Mrs. Abbie Drew of San Francisco is staying at Peter Pan lodge this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Abernethy have returned from Santa Barbara, where they spent Christmas.

Harry Hart, Oriental art expert of San Francisco, was at Peter Pan Lodge over Christmas.

TRAFFIC CASES IN LOCAL COURT MORE THAN DOUBLED

City traffic violations showed great increase this year over last, according to the books of Judge George Wood. In 1933 there were 46 cases heard by him, while in 1934 there were 105. Most of the latter were during the summer, but the reason for the increase was not stated.

General cases in Wood's court last year were 37 as against 47 this year, and the most severe sentence in 1934 for any reason was six months in the county jail meted out to an alleged drunken driver.

WILL RESUME MEETINGS

After a period of inactivity during the holidays, the Social Credit Study Group will resume meetings next Thursday evening. The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock in the art room of the Sunset school. "Cost and Prices" will be the topic.

Fifth Presentation of "Messiah" Big Success

William W. Zabala Is Called By Death

Fifth successive and most highly successful presentation of Handel's "Messiah" was an event of Sunday evening at the Methodist church in Pacific Grove. Fenton Foster directed the chorus of 80 and orchestra of 20 which did full justice to the majestic score. Ten choruses were sung this year, instead of the customary five. An innovation which auditors found highly commendable was the use of scriptural passages telling the Christmas story and linking the choral numbers. The reading was given impressively by George E. Petrie. This feature replaced the customary solo numbers.

GALT BELLS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Galt Bell, of Hollywood, will be in Carmel at the home of Mrs. Bell's mother for a number of days. Mrs. Bell recently finished a long engagement with "The Drunkard" in San Francisco, while her husband was one of the original directors of the same play during its record-breaking season in Hollywood.

William W. Zabala, long a prominent resident of the Salinas region and well known in Carmel, died at his home in the Alisal district early this week following a long illness.

His relatives came to the peninsula in the early days and he was born in Monterey May 5, 1868. Eventually he came to manage large land holdings and was recognized as an authority on history of the county. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anita N. Zabala; a son, William E. Zabala; sister, Miss Anna Zabala, of Monterey, and brother, Albert Zabala of San Francisco.

Funeral services were held in Salinas on Wednesday in the Catholic church, with interment at the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

WATER CARNIVAL JAN. 1

An interesting water carnival will be held at Hotel Del Monte's Roman plunge Tuesday, Jan. 1, with many local swimmers and divers participating.

CHECK PASSER SENTENCED

Barbette Hammel, who once created a one-woman return-to-prosperity movement in Carmel with checks that were assertedly worth less than face value, is reported to have received sentence to eight months in the Alameda county jail when she pleaded guilty to passing a worthless check on an Oakland department store.

BREAKS INTO PRINT

Reg and Becky Clappett, frequent visitors in Carmel, are starting their infant son in the newspaper business early so that he may follow his father any day now. He was the young fellow pictured on the front page of a San Francisco newspaper reaching for his stocking at the home fireplace. Incidentally, the original photograph was used by the Clappetts as a Christmas card.

Mrs. John Neikirk and Mrs. Randall Cockburn motored to Los Angeles this week, to join family parties over Christmas.

Huge Candy Cane Broken Just Week Before Christmas

This year Carmel's traditional "Number One" candy cane, standing five feet high and weighing over 22 pounds, got broken a full week before Christmas. For the past 14 years it has been a rite with Delos Curtis, genial veteran of the candy kitchens, to make for Ernest Schweninger the biggest cane in town. Sometimes they last a full year after Christmas, and only break eaters' teeth. This year it was sadly different.

Slamming of a door did it. As the marvel stood in the Curtis front window proudly looking down on lesser red-and-white striped relatives, the front door was violently closed. Down crashed "Number One," carrying numerous lesser members of his family to mutual ruin.

Curtis bravely set about creating another, however, and Schweninger was able to make his usual Christmas day parade among friends.

Colored People Hold Christmas Ceremony

Needy colored children of the peninsula to a total of 85 had their Christmas tree and heart-gladdening presents Sunday night in Pacific Grove at the First Baptist church as a result of activity by the Peninsula Negro Civic club, among whose members are many Carmel residents. Attending the celebration from here were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mosely, Mrs. Gertrude Moss and Mrs. Ella Alston.

The club was organized six months ago, has 47 members and is of combined service, welfare, educational and patriotic nature. Among those who have helped from time to time have been Mrs. Sarah White, Dr. John Gray, Argyll Campbell and Mayor W. L. Teaby, of Monterey. Food sales, sponsoring recitals and card parties have raised sufficient funds to care for less fortunate colored residents of the peninsula, as well as donations from public-spirited citizens. The welfare committee, under chairman Mrs. Ella Alston, with Mrs. Carl Harris, Miss Margaret Harrison and Mrs. Walter Mosley, would greatly appreciate any donations toward funds or stocks of clothing.

Children at the church Christmas ranged from two months to 12 years old, each receiving a toy, a bag of candy and an orange, and to make sure that ample stock of candy was on hand, the Colored Voters' League had given 20 pounds of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Trevett, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Meese and Walter Eagan are in Southern California for the holidays, and will attend the New Year's Day game at Pasadena.

Abalone Leaguers Are Straining at Leashes

No formal call has been issued by Charles Van Riper about getting Abalone ball leaguers together for a few snappy innings of muscle and joint loosening on the Carmel Woods diamond, but many a veteran is awaiting the call to be speeding on his way up there.

Many newcomers have heard of the league and its hallowed tradition and would eagerly take a chance on playing despite the ominous record of injuries strewn league history. Some of the old timers would climb into uniform and once more risk all like war horses turned out to pasture but yearning for the charge again.

If Frank Sheridan were here, and he and Don Standford and Tal Joselyn and Van Riper were seen together it would be as good as hoisting a flag saying "Abalone Today," and not meaning seafood, either.

NO PLANS UNDER WAY FOR NEW SEWAGE SYSTEM

Carmel district sanitary board has no plans to announce concerning development of adequate sewer disposal to replace the temporary plant at the Carmel river mouth, bonds for improvement having been voted down at election early this year. Secretary of the board Arthur T. Shand had no comment to offer on the situation as it exists, other than to say that the project as presented once to the public in the $80,000 disposal system was still the best solution the board could see, and that consideration of a direct outfall sewer seemed highly improbable owing to physical makeup of local coastline.

THE man who believes that "Life Begins at Forty," Walter Pitkin, has turned his attention to the youth of the "lost generation" in his survey of vocational possibilities, "New Careers for Youth." This volume will be helpful to intelligent young men and women; what will happen to the ones who are not intelligent neither Pitkin or anyone else seems to know.

The value of the book lies particularly in the provocative suggestions about creating jobs rather than seeking them in the old channels. This period holds distinct promise, the author believes, for the "attic genius and backyard scientist" to put his particular bents to good account.

The fault of his survey of established industries, as Pitkin admits himself, is that it is comparatively superficial. To conduct properly an intensive study of vocational opportunities would require more time and money than any individual can devote to it; it would be a valuable government project.

No Room at Top

But Pitkin debunks a good bit of the old pabulum which industrial leaders have been in the habit of handing out to aspiring youngsters. For one thing, there is no more "room at the top"; there is an oversupply of expensive stuffed shirts, like many other useless commodities. He makes the valuable observation that a good many workers will have to be reconciled to stepping down a peg in the fierce competition for post-depression jobs. The specialist is in a less enviable position than the jack-of-all trades who is master of several. He believes that the very difficulty which young men and women have in finding jobs on emerging from school today may be to their advantage in the long run. Instead nearest job with the least work and of stepping haphazardly into the the most pay, enforced leisure will give them time to look around, study their own capabilities, and look for work in which they will be happy to spend the best years of their lives.

Work While Learning

Bright boys and girls may bring about a revival of the old apprentice system, Pitkin believes. In the process of learning everything possible about a business which the aspirant thinks he would like, the author suggests going into the plant on a learning-and-working basis; at small pay or no pay, but with the express understanding that he is to have every possible opportunity to learn.

Fields definitely overcrowded and offering small opportunity for success are listed as: education, law, architecture, the fine arts, journalism, library work, landscape architecture, small farming, mining engineering, radio, motion pictures, aviation, any industry using large mass production technique and huge plants.

Promising Fields

Promising fields are: mechanical engineering, especially as associated with the textile industry, and the construction, management and renovation of buildings; civil engineering, particularly in government service; industrial and engineering chemistry, electrical engineering and public utilities; "management" engineers; such new industries as air conditionings and pre-fabricated housing; management of large farms which mortgage foreclosures are placing in the unskilled hands of banks and insurance companies; production of "quality" goods and services; personnel work, vocational guidance and social service; salesmanship, if you like it; banking, if your social connections are "right" and your personality pleasing (more important assets than intelligence, Pitkin remarks cynically) hotels and wayside inns; cost accounting; appraisers who can grasp the new scale of values; market research; industrial code experts, civil service.

Spanish Instructor Entertained By Class

Members of the adult Spanish class of Monterey high school held a Christmas party at the home of one of its members, Mrs. Millicent Sears at Highland Studio. The affair was planned to honor the instructor, Mrs. W. Scott Terry, and on the Christmas tree the participants hung gifts for the three-months-old Terry infant.

Music was provided by Paul Funchess, on his harp-guitar. Mrs. Sears read Christmas poems and a Kipling recitation was given by Mr. Terry. Refreshments were partly Spanish in inspiration, including chocolate imported from Spain and typical Spanish cakes in the form of Christmas trees. Bridge and dancing occupied the evening hours.

Enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Scott Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Funchess, Mr. and Mrs. William Hoar, Mrs. Carol Hendricks, Miss Laura Bell Blesh, Joseph L. Woods, G. H. Lasher, and J. Edmunds Geiser.

CLEAR AND COLD WEATHER

Carmel experienced the chilliest Christmas in some years. While there was perfectly clear weather and no snow, there was frost in the higher levels during several nights. Old timers say that Carmel never has had snow on Christmas day, although many times before and after there has been a white blanket to amaze the youth of sunny California.

Many Projects Are Considered for Carmel

Several things are under consideration by the SERA Project Committee, appointed by Mayor James Thoburn to assist in unemployment relief.

In the wide range will be such as a chalk rock sidewalk on the west side of Dolores from Ocean avenue to the Art Gallery between Fifth and Sixth streets, and also reduction of traffic hazards at blind corners, either by cutting off obstructions, with owners' permission, or cutting down the height of shrubs or hedges.

On the beach such things as retaining walls will be considered, and signs cautioning visitors to exercise extreme care in swimming, as well as better sanitary facilities. So that children will not have to walk in Tenth and Eleventh streets on the way to school, pathways are suggested. Other ideas are tennis courts for the community, cobblestone gut-drainage for corner of San Carlos and Eleventh.

Mrs. I. N. Ford and Miss Agnes Ford are in San Francisco for a Christmas reunion with their son and brother, Rev. W. N. Ford.

Miss Alice Austin of Seattle, who is spending the winter in Carmel, has been joined by her mother, Mrs. John Austin.

New Year's Day Reception to Feature Woman's Club Program

IN keeping with a tradition of many years, the Woman's Club will begin its January activities with a New Year's Day reception at the Girl Scout house, from 4 o'clock until 6. The affair is open to club members, their families and guests.

Mrs. M. F. Grant will be speaker of the day at the monthly general meeting of the club, Monday afternoon, January 7, at 2:30. Her subject will be "Flowers and Furies, Mexican." Mrs. Grant spent five months in Mexico last summer, adding more interesting experiences to her already rich store of knowledge of the country. She appeared before the book section in an entertaining review earlier in the season.

Book Section Meeting

First of the section meetings will be that of the book section, Wednesday morning, Jan. 2, at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Rose DeYoe will read from "Rip Tide" by William Rose Benet. Mrs. I. N. Ford, section chairman, will be speaker for the book section meeting of Jan. 16 and has not yet announced her subject.

Thursday, Jan. 3, the garden section will meet at the home of Mrs. James K. Lynch, at Santa Lucia and Mission. Mrs. Gertrude Andrews will review "Winter Diversions of a Gardener." Jan. 17 the garden section will hold a session at the residence of Mrs. Alfred Wolff, Ninth and San Antonio. Mrs. G. F. Beardsley will speak on "Mountain Flowers" and Mrs. Kent Clark will take as her subject, "Japanese Gardens."

Postponed Talk

Mrs. Willis G. White will give her postponed talk on Yugoslavia for the current events section January 10 at 10 o'clock, and the meeting of Jan. 23 will be devoted to a round table discussion.

Bridge section meetings will be held January 14 and 28, at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, for tea and bridge, and the bird study auxiliary group will meet Jan. 8, 15, 22 and 29 at the home of Mrs. H. S. Nye and proceed to various vantage points.

CHECK PASSER SENTENCED

Barbette Hammel, who once created a one-woman return-to-prosperity movement in Carmel with checks that were assertedly worth less than face value, is reported to have received sentence to eight months in the Alameda county jail when she pleaded guilty to passing a worthless check on an Oakland department store.

BREAKS INTO PRINT

Reg and Becky Clappett, frequent visitors in Carmel, are starting their infant son in the newspaper business early so that he may follow his father any day now. He was the young fellow pictured on the front page of a San Francisco newspaper reaching for his stocking at the home fireplace. Incidentally, the original photograph was used by the Clappetts as a Christmas card.

Mrs. John Neikirk and Mrs. Randall Cockburn motored to Los Angeles this week, to join family parties over Christmas.

Huge Candy Cane Broken Just Week Before Christmas

This year Carmel's traditional "Number One" candy cane, standing five feet high and weighing over 22 pounds, got broken a full week before Christmas. For the past 14 years it has been a rite with Delos Curtis, genial veteran of the candy kitchens, to make for Ernest Schweninger the biggest cane in town. Sometimes they last a full year after Christmas, and only break eaters' teeth. This year it was sadly different.

Slamming of a door did it. As the marvel stood in the Curtis front window proudly looking down on lesser red-and-white striped relatives, the front door was violently closed. Down crashed "Number One," carrying numerous lesser members of his family to mutual ruin.

Curtis bravely set about creating another, however, and Schweninger was able to make his usual Christmas day parade among friends.

Colored People Hold Christmas Ceremony

Needy colored children of the peninsula to a total of 35 had their Christmas tree and heart-gladdening presents Sunday night in Pacific Grove at the First Baptist church as a result of activity by the Peninsula Negro Civic club, among whose members are many Carmel residents. Attending the celebration from here were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mosely, Mrs. Gertrude Moss and Mrs. Ella Alston.

The club was organized six months ago, has 47 members and is of combined service, welfare, educational and patriotic nature. Among those who have helped from time to time have been Mrs. Sarah White, Dr. John Gray, Argyll Campbell and Mayor W. L. Teaby, of Monterey. Food sales, sponsoring recitals and card parties have raised sufficient funds to care for less fortunate colored residents of the peninsula, as well as donations from public-spirited citizens. The welfare committee, under chairman Mrs. Ella Alston, with Mrs. Carl Harris, Miss Margaret Harrison and Mrs. Walter Mosley, would greatly appreciate any donations toward funds or stocks of clothing.

Children at the church Christmas ranged from two months to 12 years old, each receiving a toy, a bag of candy and an orange, and to make sure that ample stock of candy was on hand, the Colored Voters' League had given 20 pounds of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Trevvett, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Meese and Walter Eagan are in Southern California for the holidays, and will attend the New Year's Day game at Pasadena.

Abalone Leaguers Are Straining at Leashes

No formal call has been issued by Charles Van Riper about getting Abalone ball leaguers together for a few snappy innings of muscle and joint loosening on the Carmel Woods diamond, but many a veteran is awaiting the call to be speeding on his way up there.

Many newcomers have heard of the league and its hallowed tradition and would eagerly take a chance on playing despite the ominous record of injuries strewn league history. Some of the old timers would climb into uniform and once more risk all like war horses turned out to pasture but yearning for the charge again.

If Frank Sheridan were here, and he and Don Standiford and Tal Joselyn and Van Riper were seen together it would be as good as hoisting a flag saying "Abalone Today," and not meaning seafood, either.

NO PLANS UNDER WAY FOR NEW SEWAGE SYSTEM

Carmel district sanitary board has no plans to announce concerning development of adequate sewer disposal to replace the temporary plant at the Carmel river mouth, bonds for improvement having been voted down at election early this year. Secretary of the board Arthur T. Shand had no comment to offer on the situation as it exists, other than to say that the project as presented once to the public in the $30,000 disposal system was still the best solution the board could see, and that consideration of a direct outfall sewer seemed highly improbable owing to physical makeup of local coastline.

Books, Old and New

"SPRINGTIME FOR HENRY"
POSTERS ARE STOLEN

Attractiveness of "Springtime for Henry" photo posters was demonstrated by the way admiring on-lookers would steal the pictures at the first opportunity, right at the busiest sidewalk spots in town. If prospective customers will go to such length to secure souvenirs before the show hits the boards, it goes to prove that Carmel is coming back fast as a play center.

Nativity Play at Sunset School
Beautifully Staged and Costumed

AS the contribution of Sunset school to Community Christmas, the Nativity play was given Thursday evening before a capacity house in the school auditorium. Beautifully staged, lighted and costumed, this offering represents a far departure from the type of school "entertainment" in which most of the auditors had participated in their own childhood. In their serious and reverent tribute to the more spiritual aspects of the holiday, the children touched a deep chord in the hearts of their auditors.

Lines of the little play, based on old French sources, had a Biblical sonority, though couched simply enough to be appropriate to childish actors. The music, consisting of the singing of an angel chorus with piano accompaniment, and various solo numbers, is distinguished and authentically old, and beautifully simple. The solos of the child actors rang in the Gothic auditorium with the plaintive sweetness of flute-music. This entertainment, of all community observance, was calculated to leave a sense of the spiritual significance of Christmas.

Leading roles were taken by Joyce Whitcomb, Hugh Smith, Bob Farley, Ned Coffin, Pat Crichton, Homer Levinson, Clayton Askew, Barclay Spence, Max Hagemeyer, Jimmy Welsh, Boyce Richardson, George Crossman, Donald Norton, Howard Levinson, Harold Johnson, Jack Harner, Gordon Ewig, Bob Schaffler, Ronald Dorsett, Betty Haskell, Baird Bardarson, Suzanne Watson, Larry McLaren and Barbara Bryant.

Small angels were Pamela Dormody, Audrey Mawdsley, Barbara Mylar, Jeannie Sayers, Honey Townsend, Nancy Lee Watson, Gerald Artellan, Henry Molteni, Willette Torres, Gloria McLaren, Kathleen McCauley, Michael O'Crotty.

The Angel Chorus

Singing in the angel chorus were: Laurel Bixler, Carol Canoles, Margot Coffin, Dorothy DeAmaral, Nancy Hale, Eleanor Johnston, Inez Machado, Katie Miranda, Elaine McEntire, Ellen Pearl McCrury, Cecilia Noller, Dorothy Nixon, Leona Ramsey, Patty Ann Hyland, Patsy Shephard, Marilyn Strasburger, Helen Wetzel, Elizabeth Watson, Phyllis Watson, Helen Wermuth, Margaret Hoffman, Nancy Jane Ricketts, Pattie Condit, Barbara De Gaston, Irene Wilson, Carol Bailey, Babette DeMoe, Patty Lou Elliott, Fordre Fraties, Rose Funchess, Jacqueline Hodges, Dorothy Haasis, Patricia Hale, Natalie Hatton, Nancy Hollingsworth, Patricia Mack, Suzanne McGraw, Hazel Mylar, Dawn Overhulse, Clara Roxbury, Dorothy Smith, Priscilla Watson, Barbara Anne Jones, Betsy Hunter, Jacqueline Klein, Gerry Shephard, Eleanor Hart, Joyce Thompson, Clara May Walls, Mary Jane Uzzell, Donna Hodges, Alice Vidoroni, Ann Millis, Harriet Hatton, Emma Ann Wishart, Charlotte May, Mary Jean Reade, Madeline McDonogh, Lillian Ohm, Gloria DeGaston, Yvonne Mercurio, Ann Whitman, June Petty, Olive O'Byrne, Dorothy Black, Ruth Burrows, La Verne DeAmaral, Beverly Douglas, Adeline Guth, Zada Martin, Eileen McEldowney, Charlotte Townsend, Martina Tait, Majorie Wermuth, Lila Whitaker, Margaret Wishart, Edith Cox, Martha Rico.

Greater Volume of Mail This Christmas

Postmaster Irene Cator reports that this Christmas a greater volume of letters and packages was handled than ever before, and that intelligent cooperation by the public greatly facilitated employees in speeding the job.

The branch office for parcel post delivery on Dolores helped in preventing congestion in the main building, and probably will become an annual feature. Of particular note was the increased care in wrapping packages and early mailing, thus accomplishing double purposes of safe arrival and spreading work for employees instead of jamming it at the last minute.

Broken Water Pipe
Floods Street Corner

Artesian water has now been discovered in the center of town, right beneath the concrete of Ocean and San Carlos intersection. For some days keen observers had noticed the flow, but water company officials were inclined to lay it to natural causes rather than to their own tired pipes.

Drop in temperature raised high hope among kiddies that perhaps a good skating rink might be had close to home, and motorists had a fine time speeding through it and spattering muddy water on pedestrians, to say nothing of the chilled crew breaking through the pavement to attack the rupture in a hand-to-pipe battle which finally ended in the water company's favor.

Gay Party Looms for Del Monte

One of the gayest parties of the year will be the New Year's Eve celebration to be held at Hotel Del Monte Monday night, Dec. 31.

Indications point to the largest crowd since the good old days before 1929. Reservations already far exceed last year's total and two orchestras may have to be used to take care of the throng.

The festivities will get underway around 9 o'clock with the serving of the New Year's Eve dinner. From then on the celebration will continue until the early hours of the morning. Special favors, hats, noisemakers and everything that goes to make a New Year's party a success will be given out.

The Del Monte's New Year's Eve party has been famous on the Pacific Coast since the days of the gay nineties. More than 300 out-of-town guests from all sections of California will be on hand for the celebration.

Boy Scouts To Spend Week-end at Yosemite

Twenty Carmel Boy Scouts this week-end will enjoy the second annual winter snow camp in Yosemite under the leadership of Herman Crossman and Melvin Dorset, assisted by Henry Baurenschmidt, Jack Goodeno and Laddie Hyde. They will stay at Camp Curry.

This is a council-wide plan for central California scouts and is gaining importance as a means of education in snow environment. Each city furnishes adult leadership for the lads representing it, and this year an added treat will be watching the intercollegiate winter sports meet.

Check Your Drivers License This Year

When you make application for your new license plates this year look at your driving license to be sure it has not expired!

John A. McGilvray, chief of the Division of Drivers Licenses of the Department of Motor Vehicles, made this request of motorists of California about to seek their new 1935 plates.

With the exception of a few licenses issued between January 1, 1927 and August 14, 1929, all licenses issued by the state are good only for two years. These must be renewed or the person holding them has no legal right to drive and is subject to arrest.

Carmel May Receive Double Gasoline Tax

Advocating an increased share of gasoline tax money for cities, the California State Automobile Association today announced its support of a plan which would give Carmel approximately $1627 each year, or double the present amount. As one feature of its street and highway policies to be presented to the legislature early in January, the automobile association announced it will support the proposal for allocation of an additional quarter-cent of the gasoline tax to cities. This would make a total allocation of one-half cent of the gasoline tax money to be expended within the city limits of California municipalities.

JOSEPH SMITH COMPLETES MONTEREY BAY PANORAMA

Joseph Smith, local artist, who has specialized in bird's eye maps of this region, has recently completed a colorful, purely scenic panorama of Monterey Bay from the north-east, and it now hangs in the office of Governor Frank Merriam. Large, photographic copies of it are in many peninsula homes and offices.

Along the lower border is an interesting historical series depicting Cabrillo's ship in 1542, Sebastian Vizcaino's in 1602, Sloat raising the flag in 1846 and purse seiners of modern days.

Thomas Warren, post graduate law student at the University of California, is home for the Christmas-New Year week with his mother, Mrs. Bernice O. Warren, in the cottage on north Carmelo street.

GRACE MacGOWAN COOKE AND SISTER ARE VISITORS

Mrs. Grace MacGowan Cooke and her sister, Alice MacGowan, are here for the holidays with their daughters, Helen Cooke Wilson and Katharine Cooke, of Hatton Fields, from their Los Gatos home. For many years they were in Carmel, but health necessitated a more inland climate. Both are noted writers of fiction, and among books by Mrs. Cooke is "Hulda," while Miss MacGowan has among her work a series of mystery stories, several in collaboration with Perry Newberry.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Albertson were in Palo Alto for Christmas with Mrs. Albertson's mother.

Let's Listen in to this conversation

Here's what they are saying:

"It's no trouble to get a Federal Housing Loan for Gas Heating Equipment. We can have three years to pay and payments are only a few dollars a month."

"Let's get it done right away. I just can't keep this house warm with all my other things to do. It is something we should have done a long time ago."

These folks are absolutely right. And there are thousands of families doing the same thing.

It is important, too, to do it now. January and February just ahead are the coldest months of the year. And there is nothing that compares with Gas Heating for thorough, whole house warmth that can cope with any kind of weather.

Perhaps you have other home modernization plans. Painting, papering, general fixing up of your home anew again. Then by all means install gas heating equipment to help keep your home freshly bright and new looking for years to come. An immediate installation can be made, quickly and without bother or inconvenience to the regular routine of your home.

HOW CITY NEWS IS MADE

Considerable bewilderment has arisen here over the widely varied accounts in the metropolitan dailies of the tragic Schaffner story. Understanding of how this occurs is impossible without some knowledge of the manner in which the press "covers" a story of this kind.

Early Wednesday, a swarm of city newspapermen descended on the village. Of these the most important were the cameramen, in keeping with the growing tendency of newspapers to rely more and more on pictures rather than stories, apparently on the conviction that very few of their subscribers are able to read. Just how to make a picture of the fact that a woman has disappeared from her home is rather a poser, but it doesn't feaze the cameramen. A stretch of beach, a picture of some "socialites" on horseback, a shot of some "police dogs" enjoying a run among the varied and interesting scents of the seashore;—anything goes, so long as it has a remote connection with the story.

In an event of this kind, rumors are always more plentiful than news. City editors are more concerned with speed than they are with accuracy. In the terrific competition of metropolitan journalism the paper on the street first, or with the most sensational headlines, sells the most copies. For that reason, the "leg men" down from the cities scrambled for telephones first and verified the rumors afterwards.

Again, some of the press services, dissatisfied because stories reaching them from local correspondents had less action than those carried by rival sheets, borrowed from their competitors instead of relying on local people for coverage with their greater familiarity with what was actually going on, and less use of imagination.

Sometimes the leg-man gets to the phone so fast that he has forgotten to pick up some obvious details, which are the first thing the rewrite man at the other end of the wire asks him. But he glibly and convincingly answers the question, anyway, out of his own head. When the conversation is over the rewrite man remembers another detail or two the city editor will be sure to want, so he supplies them, out of his head. So it goes, until after the story has passed through the various hands in process of preparation for the eager public, it bears less and less resemblance to the truth. Yet truth is often much more interesting, and even stranger than fiction. News is moulded into a few stereotyped lines which editors believe are all that the public is capable of assimilating.

CHRISTMAS TRADE IMPROVES

Business generally ran ahead of last year with merchants and business men of Carmel and other peninsula shopping centers.

A spirit of confidence seems to be widespread and the people of the peninsula spent their money more freely than last year. Besides, which is decidedly to the point, they had more money to spend.

All sections of the United States report a similar condition, attributed to improved farm income, larger payrolls, emergency government expenditures and more stable banking conditions. These are factors that make for confidence as individuals look ahead and present spending reflects optimism for 1935.

Another "reorganization" in the new deal impends. Well, anything to keep the new deal new.

PRAYER FOR A SHIP ON A STORMY NIGHT

*Ominous the winds that churn
 The brittle stalk of tree and fern
 When wind and water meet the land
 In a wide swirl of sleet and sand . . .*

*O what of rigging sheeted white
 Perilously nosed to night
 Of storm and plunder? Let there be
 A wind for land, a wind for sea!
 Wind that shall not cleave apart
 So valiant, so brave a heart!*

*Tree and fern will root again
 And quiver to new blossom when
 April sun adventuring
 Speaks blithely that the day is Spring . . .*

*Ship cannot nurture long upon

CLAIRE AVEN THOMSEN.

THE OPEN DOOR

*Out of the dark
 To the sill of the door
 Lay the snow in a long
 Unruffled floor,
 And the lamplight fell
 Narrow and thin.
 A carpet unrolled
 For the cat to walk in.
 Slowly, smoothly,
 Black at the night,
 With paws unseen
 (White upon white)
 Like a queen who walks
 Down a corridor
 The black cat paced
 That cold smooth floor—*

 Bead upon bead,
 The track of small feet
 Like dark fern-seed.*

—ELIZABETH COATSWORTH.
 —In "Books"

WATER COLOUR

*Wind, boisterous, unbridled, high;
 Sweeps the canvas of the sky.
 Following swift and sharply sweet
 A rain-squall patters down the street
 The rainbow spans a checkered glade
 And smudges hills to pastel shade.
 Cloud shadows ride the billowing grass
 Mottling meadows as they pass
 A sun-shaft strikes the pasture dank
 Where cattle graze with steaming flank.*

LYNDAHL GEE.

ENIGMAS

*White carnations
 Have dual personalities—
 The only pungent masculine flower
 Evincing a womanlike grace. They make their strange pilgrimages
 In proud silence.*

OTHO VON BUSSE.

LET'S GO AFTER BUSINESS

With the approach of the new year it is well to look ahead with a view to more business in 1935.

While there has been an excusable let-down in the past few years, the tide is beginning to turn, the buying power of people is improving and trade will naturally come to the merchants who go after it.

In this connection we point out that one of the greatest factors in advancing the commercial and business interests of any city is a first-class newspaper. Somehow, people in a given territory trade in the town whose newspaper they read. The Carmel Pine Cone, with its thorough coverage of the trading area of the peninsula is indispensable in any concerted trade promotion.

We do not mean and would not advise that merchants in any city should support a newspaper solely because it is published where they have their places of business. But we do say, that where a newspaper is published in a given city, with adequate coverage of the trading area and a comprehensive service to the people of that section, merchants and business men would do well to advertise in the publication.

Carmel business will grow almost identically with the success of its journalistic enterprise. The support from advertisers, which insures newspaper success, widens the field of influence for a publication and brings back dividends to the business men involved. There is no question about the truth of this conclusion.

It would, perhaps, be unbecoming for us to say that The Carmel Pine Cone is such a worthy representative of the publishing world and the question is left for answer from our business interests. If they conclude that this newspaper is a good salesman for this section and will give us the support through 1935 that such a representative deserves, there will be a decided improvement, and, among the first to feel it will be the advertising business men of the peninsula.

A GLOWING CHRISTMAS

Carmel this year joined the annual campaign for the Outdoor Christmas Tree Association of California which set its quota for 75,000 illuminated Christmas trees.

Radiant with multi-colored lights, sparkling through tinsel and deep-hued boughs, the trees formed a net-work of warm, glowing chains of Yuletide cheer from one city to another, stretching over the entire state.

There were noticeably more lighted trees in private yards this year and the whole scheme of outdoor trees surpassed previous seasons, spreading beauty and joy to all who passed this way. There is no better way to speak the Christmas cheer that bides with a house than to share it even by so much as a light of a candle. Infinitely more cheer is spread by living Christmas trees in yards and in the streets, sending out their beams of Yuletide happiness.

FOR THE UNDERPRIVILEGED

While Christmas giving to Carmel's less fortunate families was accomplished in an appropriately unobtrusive manner, the season should not pass without some note being taken of the fact that insofar as is known, no unfortunate household was forgotten. A representative civic group which prefers to be strictly anonymous planned and efficiently carried out distribution of necessities and toys for children who might not otherwise have been visited by Santa Claus.

Water Front Project Delayed By Illness

Meetings of the SERA project committee appointed by Mayor James Thoburn to recommend improvements along the cliffs below Scenic Drive, have been temporarily delayed owing to absence of Chairman Hugh Comstock, due to serious illness of his mother.

Other members of the group are Miss Hazel Watrous, Mrs. Jas. L. Cockburn and Winsor Josselyn, together with Joseph Burge and Bernard Rowntree representing the city council. Mayor Thoburn serves in ex-officio capacity. It is believed that much valuable conservation work can be done to preserve cliffs from erosion as well as beautifying the waterfront in general with landscaping, and also giving work to many Carmel unemployed as an SERA project.

CARMEL WRITER AND WIFE SUE FOR $45,510 DAMAGES

Asking $45,510 damages as the result of an accident Nov. 30 when a bus collided with their automobile, James M. Hopper, Carmel author, and his wife, Mattie, have filed suit against the Pacific Greyhound Company. The complaint charges negligence by the bus company. The suit seeks $35,000 damages and $450 for medical expenses for Mrs. Hopper, whose injuries are said to have been serious, and $10,000 for shock to her husband, as well as $60 for repairs to his car.

PRE-CHRISTMAS DINNER

Using the Christmas motif in table decoration, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Tutt entertained at a pre-Christmas dinner party Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Dickinson, and Admiral and Mrs. J. S. McKean.

FROM THE HILL TOP

By PERRY NEWBERRY

A recent editorial in a neighboring town's daily newspaper, promptly endorsed by our local leader, Judge George Wood, sets Carmel straight upon the disputed point of a city hall on Devendorf Plaza. We know now that the plaza is "something that is pretty but ineffective as a civic ornament in Carmel," that it is "A sweet little park but there's no point to it," and that its only justification would be more people to sit in it, more foot traffic to pass it, and more motors to park about its edges.

In fact, the Monterey idea of a park is exactly Judge Wood's, something useful. The city which would trade a rose garden for a hall of records, would allow its wonderful beach to be usurped by sardine canneries, and prefers to hold its nose rather than embarrass the fish-fertilizer factories, could hardly be expected to object to a city hall, a jail and a fire engine house upon our one downtown park.

Fine for Prisoners

There is no question but Devendorf Plaza would have greater use as a city hall site. Judge Wood could hold court among beautiful surroundings, and send his prisoners to a jail with a fine outlook through the barred windows. The song of birds would merge into the shrill of the fire siren, and the clangor of gongs would silence them. And more people, cited by the police to appear before Judge Wood, could enjoy the shade of the foliage.

Has this Chamber of Commerce notion of the uses of a park, endorsed by Judge Wood, who writes "as an individual taxpayer and voter of Carmel" to thank the editor for "so well saying what some of us have wanted to say many times but have been unable to properly phrase,"—has this idea of justifying beauty by crowds permeated Carmel? If so, why not place a zoo in the park, or a merry-go-round and have bigger crowds? And why not get busy with our beach and make it attractive? By a proper use of attractions and hot-dogs on the beach, we could crowd it in the summer.

Keep It Beautiful

I believe that the Monterey editor and Judge Wood represent only a small part of Carmel's resident population, and that a majority of our people are still of the opinion that beauty does not require any special justification by the crowd. I believe that if we need—or when we need—a city hall—and jail that it will be placed somewhere else than as an attraction on Devendorf Plaza. I believe that the purposes for its use at the time of its purchase will be carried out on Block 69.

Carmel purchased Block 69 years ago, not to make it a city hall site or a jail yard, or even a fire engine garage. By a two-thirds vote, the people of Carmel bought it for a children's playground and park. At that time, it was believed that its use for those purposes was protected in perpetuity by state law. That a future city council might, without the sanction of the electorate, change it into a city hall site was unbelievable. Yet that is what has happened. We do not have a vote upon the question of whether or not a city hall, jail and engine house be built upon the square. We must defeat a bond issue to protect our park.

IRONING BOARD BURNS

Catching fire from a flatiron left upon it, an ironing board in the bedroom of the Glenn Monroe residence on San Carlos between Fifth and Sixth streets recently called out the department but did little damage beyond scorching the wall and filling the house with smoke.

OLD SCHOONER ILLUMINATED

Allen Knight, of Carmel, has lent a colorful touch to the Monterey bay scene these holiday nights by illuminating with strings of electric lights the masts of his schooner Aurora, which is eventually to become the home of peninsula sea scouts and be a practical vessel upon which they can learn seamanship.

LEASE CONVERSE HOME

Baron and Baroness Max Von Romberg, of Santa Barbara, have leased the E. C. Converse home on Santa Rita street for the coming polo season at Del Monte. The baron is an expert horseman, and among avocations of the baroness is writing and publishing.

FINED FOR SPEEDING

Despite holiday increase in traffic the court of City Judge George Wood has had but few traffic cases. Recently Robt. D. Kennedy, of Monterey, was fined $10 for speeding 45 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Jack L. Jordan to Marry Stockton Girl

Jack L. Jordan, prominent young Carmelite, is to be married next Monday morning to Miss Anne Eigel at the home of her parents in Stockton. His best man will be Joe Mora, while the bride's sister, Jane, will be maid of honor.

The young people will honeymoon in southern California and return to live in Carmel, where the bridegroom is associated with his father, John Jordan, in owner-management of the Pine Inn.

To visit his family in Syracuse, N. Y., Krause Crowfoot has departed for the east, expecting to be gone for about two months.

Meals served here are always happy ones, due to the fine quality food and delightful surroundings.

Many theatre proprietors in England are refusing to permit actors to broadcast.

TAX COLLECTION DATE IS FIVE DAYS LATE THIS YEAR

City tax collection closing date this year is five days later than last year, which may account for the $2,303.48 drop in the total received by Dec. 24 as against the final figures in 1933.

Deputy Tax Collector Hefling reports that $28,239.55 has come over the counter up to the foregoing date this year, while $30,543.03 had been received last year. Many Carmelites wait until the last moment before paying and it is expected that the balance will be in favor of 1934 after the deadline is passed.

Fewer Aches and Pains More Health and Pleasure

PAIN drags you down—physically, mentally, morally.

Why continue to endure it? Try Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for Headache, Neuralgia, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic, and Periodic Pains. They seldom fail.

Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills are pleasant to take and prompt to act. They do not upset the stomach, cause constipation or leave you with a dull, depressed feeling.

Ask your druggist or any of the hundreds of thousands enthusiastic users. Probably you too can find relief.

I think all Dr. Miles medicines are wonderful, but Anti-Pain Pills are my favorite.

Mrs. Dec Blankenship, Standard, Texas
I have used your Anti-Pain Pills only a short time, but they have given me prompt relief. They did for me in a week more than any other medicine I had taken for a year.

Phil Geller, Milwaukee, Wisconsin
I am never without Anti-Pain Pills. I think they are much better than anything else I have ever used. Sometimes when I am tired and nervous and feel like I would go under, I take two Anti-Pain Pills and in a short time I feel like a different person.

Mrs. J. Tidbach, Streetsburg, Pennsylvania
Your Anti-Pain Pills have been used in my home with wonderful results. I recommend them.

Maggie Belle Dudley, Vancouver, B. C.
Your Anti-Pain Pills helped me a great deal. I have used them for years. I carry them everywhere in my purse and always keep them in the house. They have saved me a great many sick headaches.

Mrs. Jennie Neill, Coronado, Calif.

Faculty Members On Yule Jaunts

Closing of Sunset school for the holidays has caused a general scattering of faculty members, many of whom will visit relatives until reopening of school on Monday, Jan. 7.

Principal Bardarson, Mrs. Anna Kohner, Mrs. Lilly Trowbridge and Mrs. Edna Lockwood are remaining at home with their families here over Christmas and New Year.

Mrs. Bernita Ninneman has gone to San Francisco. Mrs. Frances Farley is at home here at present, but will probably plan a short trip during the vacation. Miss Althea Kendall is at home with her parents in Los Angeles. Mrs. Frances Johnson is in San Jose, and Mrs. Anne B. Uzzell is remaining in Carmel.

R. J. Gale has gone to San Francisco to be with his mother. Miss Anna Marie Baer is visiting a sister in Santa Barbara. Miss Madeline Curry is in San Rafael visiting her parents. Ernest Calley is in Oakland, and Miss Blanche Heninger, accompanied by her mother, has gone to Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Nellie Walker is visiting friends in Southern California, and Miss Eleanor Smith has joined her brother in Santa Cruz.

MRS. CHARLES THORNE DIES

Report comes of the sudden death of Mrs. Charles H. Thorne, of Pasadena and Chicago, mother of Mrs. Dewey Pierce, of Riverside, Conn., who was well known here when she was Leslie Thorne. Details of her passing are lacking, but it must have been entirely unexpected as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton were supposed to be house guests in the Pasadena home this week.

CHILDREN OF CARMEL SEE SANTA CLAUS

SANTA CLAUS paid his official visit to the children of Carmel early Sunday evening, descending the Ocean avenue hill in an automobile brilliantly lighted and festively bedecked. One of Santa's clever reindeer's manner the wheel, with Santa maintaining control from the back seat by means of leather reins.

This was the climax and conclusion of the Community Christmas tree festival which several hundred children and adults attended just before the dinner hour Sunday. The children gathered at Manzanita-Legion hall about 5 o'clock, and as dusk fell they formed a long procession, with Chinese lanterns blossoming out like huge fire-flies. The lanterns, bobbing fantastically at the end of long poles above the marching children, presented an exotic spectacle as the serpentine wound its way up Dolores to Ocean, then to the green-lighted tree at the corner of Junipero and Ocean.

Christmas Carols

Gathered around the tree, the assembled townspeople and the children sang Christmas carols, and the quartet of Community church also gave a number. This led up to the dramatic entrance of Santa Claus, who distributed bags of candy to the children.

The celebration was planned by representatives of civic groups including the Woman's club, Manzanita club, American Legion, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, P.-T. A., churches and Sunset school. This is the first community Christmas that has been planned in such concerted fashion, and the nucleus of the group working this year plans to make it an annual event and to build up a tradition around it. Another year the 125 lanterns supplied to the children will be increased to 500, according to plans now being discussed.

Regan Chairman

James Regan was general chairman and O. W. Bardarson arranged the program. Others on the committee were Major William B. Kneass, Dr. John R. Gray, Mrs. Karl G. Rentdorff, Mrs. E. A. H. Watson, Rev. Melvin C. Dorsett, Rev. Austin B. Chinn, Miss Clara Kellogg, Herman Crossman, and Mrs. Everett Smith.

ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE VISITS HIS CARMEL HOME

Robert Welles Ritchie, public relations counsel for the Federal Land Bank, whose offices for several western states are in Oakland, is in Carmel over Christmas at the Ritchie home on Eighth street. Caring for a large amount of written material sent to many publications, speaking on radio and meeting leading figures in the government's plan to help land owners, make his days full to the limit and hence the quiet of Carmel all the more welcome.

Newspaperman, short story writer and novelist, Ritchie lived here for a number of years before going to London as Hearst's news representative there, following which he came back to Carmel and early this year went with the federal project.

BRISK BUILDING SEASON PROMISED FOR NEXT YEAR

Carmel building contractors generally report that 1934 more than held its own with 1933 owing to stabilization of material prices, which gave prospective home owners confidence that costs had reached bottom and were on the upgrade. While there was not a marked increase in the number of structures, the net figures to builders are said to compare favorably with the earlier year and indications are for a brisk season commencing early in 1935.

New Play Group Plans 'Glory Lane'

Of interest to theater goers on the peninsula is the announcement of a new play, "Glory Lane," by John Patrick, internationally known radio writer of Carmel. Miss Sibyl Leonard, for years a headliner on the Orpheum circuit, plays the title role in this production, which makes its debut January 24, 25 and 26 at the Denny-Watrous Gallery in Carmel. Miss Leonard went on the stage as a child and established herself as one of the finest dancers in the country before she was 20. Miss Leonard retired from the stage when she married "Dutch" Leonard.

There are many 'names' connected with this venture. Aside from Miss Leonard, the part of her sister is to be played by Mrs. George Marion, Sr., another professional actress of wide experience, and wife of George Marion.

The play is by John Patrick who is known through his "Cecil and Sally" skits, which were released nightly over a national network for more than four years. The production is to be staged by Ralph Bell, screen and stage director, who handled a megaphone for Corrine Griffith and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

Mrs. Clay Miller and her son, Norman, are down from San Francisco, in their home at San Antonio and Seventh. Mrs. Miller expects to remain until the middle of January.

Mrs. J. M. Szekler and Miss Szekler, her daughter, of Wilmington, Calif., are making their customary Christmas stay at Pine Inn, and plan to return this year for the summer in one of the Inn cottages.
